

SUPPORTING CURRICULUM PRACTICE

A professional learning series for educators in child care, family child care, out of school care and preschools.

This learning series is designed for educators working in all sectors of the early learning and care community who wish to discover how Flight: Alberta's Early Learning and Care Framework supports their practice with children and families.

The series is a collaborative initiative that captures many voices of educators from across our province who share their perspectives and experiences about their practice.

This learner directed, eight module series is visually engaging and includes a variety of interactivities to support learning, thinking and the development of reflective practice. Virtual conversations are hosted weekly throughout the series to allow learners to connect with knowledgeable facilitators and other educators from across our province.

This is what learners have said about the series:

“

The ‘explore your practice’ learning activities were thorough and will really help others begin to think more deeply and intentionally about their environment.

“

The content was clear and easy to follow.

“

The discussion forum has been a great way to foster a sharing of ideas & perspectives!

“

I really felt there were so many things I learned about in this series that I can apply to my own classroom.

This interactive learning opportunity is supported by the Alberta Ministry of Children's Services and offered by ARCQE (Alberta Resource Centre for Quality Enhancement). For more information and to register, go to:
